PEERS is a social skills group for teens (ages 14-17) on the autism spectrum. This group also includes a parent component. The main focus is to help teens and their families build positive relationships through teaching, role-play, and practice.

In this group, teens and their parents will learn how to:

- Have a two-way conversation
- Improve sportsmanship
- Better understand humor
- Find and make new friends
- Host and attend get-togethers
- Handle teasing, disagreements, and bullying
